

What if you could get your roof done in the next 10 days?

Why Your Roofing Company is Making You Wait...

Your roofing company probably made you some promise like, if you sign this contract, we will have your roof done in two weeks. That was 6, 8 or even 10 weeks ago.

Here is why your roofing company has made you wait so long.

When the storm hit in our area back in July, big roofing companies hired small armies of salesman to go out and sign contingency contracts.

The problem is, they signed way more contracts than they were able to fulfill. Materials cost a lot of money and there are only so many crews to go around. On top of that, many of these "big" companies did not have the management in place to keep up with all of the problems and concerns of their customers.

If you are like many customers, you have called your roofing company, and you can't even get anyone to call you back.

In addition to poor customer service, many roofing companies have simply run out of money. They are waiting for checks to come in from the insurance companies before they can buy more materials.

Devinbrooke Roofing is not a mega roofing company. Devinbrooke Roofing is a division of Devinbrooke Homes, which has been serving local customers in the Denver metro area for the past 20 years.

We only do a maximum of 10 roofs per week. There are two reasons for this:

1. Quality Control

By keeping our company small, we are able to install your roof with utmost care. We don't rush, and you get the best roof possible.

2. Customer Service

Our customer service is without rival. When you call someone in our company, someone actually calls you back, usually within minutes. If you need information about your job, all of our staff have access to critical information that "keeps you in the loop."

Because we only take 10 new customers per week (maximum), you might qualify to get your roof done in the next 10 days. Call Tony now at: 720-544-1916 and get your roof done right.
